BLACK HILLS ENERGY

Black Hills Energy’s number one priority is our customers, employees and communities. We are actively monitoring the coronavirus (COVID-19) situation and have measures in place to ensure we continue to serve our customers in a way that is safe for both customers and our employees.

To support our customers who may be impacted by the nation’s response to COVID-19:

- Black Hills Energy is temporarily suspending nonpayment disconnections for our customers.
- We realize that due to possible extended periods of isolation, customers may face financial hardships effecting their ability to timely pay their energy bills. We offer various assistance options to our customers such as, payment arrangements, budget billing and medical extensions.
- Visit www.blackhillsenergy.com for more information about these programs.
- Additionally, 211 is a service that connects millions of people to help with essential needs. Customers can also call our customer care specialists anytime at 1-888-890-5554.

WEST RIVER ELECTRIC

West River Electric Association will close to the public. WREA is following the CDC’s recommended social distancing measures; this helps those with increased risk who are infected, but also those who need other critical health care services. We have decided to isolate the employees to ensure they can perform their job duties. An ineffective workforce would have detrimental effects on an already unfortunate pandemic.

In conclusion, hopefully, you understand the importance of temporarily closing to the public. Isolation and protecting mission-critical employees is the first step in our disaster management plan.

- Moving forward, we will monitor the condition day by day and hour by hour.
- Moreover, communication is key. Connect with us on Smarthub, social media, our website westriver.coop, and our phones are answered 24/7 by calling 605-279-2135 or 605-393-1500.
Lastly, WREA will work with individuals experiencing financial hardships as a result of the coronavirus.

SOUTH DAKOTA PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION

Payment Assistance and Budgeting

As a customer of a utility service provider, you have an obligation to pay for the services you use. There may be times when you have difficulty meeting those financial obligations. Early and honest communication with the utility company is one of the best first steps you can make to work your way through the challenging situation. You should also be aware of the following helpful tools.

• Low Income Energy Assistance Program
  Qualifying consumers may apply to the Office of Energy Assistance within the South Dakota Department of Social Services for the Low Income Energy Assistance Program (LIEAP) that provides payment for some home heating costs.

• Weatherization Assistance Program
  The South Dakota Department of Social Services' Weatherization Assistance Program helps qualifying residents make their homes more energy efficient through weatherization improvements. The improvements are completed by four different community action programs serving specific counties.

• Lifeline and Trival Lifeline and Link-Up Telephone Assistance Programs
  Most South Dakota telephone companies offer the Lifeline program for their qualifying customers. Lifeline offers a discount on basic local telephone service. Tribal Lifeline and Link-Up programs are available for residents of tribal lands. Tribal Link-Up Provides a discount on the installation or activation for new telephone service. Applicants must meet certain eligibility requirements for the programs.

• Electric and Natural Gas Utility Budgeting Services
  Although not a discount program, balanced billing offered by electric or natural gas providers can be a valuable tool for managing your budget. With balanced billing, the utility company reviews your past bills to determine a monthly average. You are billed this average amount each month, regardless of how much energy you actually use. Some months your energy use is higher, some months it’s lower. But you always pay the same amount. The company tracks monthly usage, monitors your account and lets you know if adjustments to the balanced billing are necessary.
